Men's Clothes to Drop But Not Woollen Cloth

Special to THE SUN AND NEW YORK HERSED.

[ AWRENCE, Mass., Aug. 15.— Men's clothing will sell at lower wholesale prices this fall, in the opinion of William M. Wood, president of the American Woolen Company. He referred to clothes that go on sale at retail in the spring of 1921. At the same time he declared that woollen cloth would not drop in

Mr. Wood added that the company's mills, according to present indications, would be reopened soon after Labor Day. "The prospects look bright, but that is the most I can say for the present," he said. "We are receiving numerous inquiries from persons looking for cloth. We are like fishermen, we have our bait and it appears now as though we are getting bites."
